One attacking German destroyer was sunk, another hit and severely damaged and at least three Nazi bombers were destroyed

The Edinburgh was crippled by enemy torpedoes and had to be abandoned and sunk by the British themselves when she was towed and bound with a cruiser which had already delivered its blood. One rushed vessel sank and sunk.

THREE SHIPS LOST

The second convoy attacked was a large string of ships carrying the portant war supplies to the British-contested Russian front. Although it was attacked by repeated waves of dive-bombers and torpedo-carrying planes, which sank three ships, the British vessel escorting

British Columbia Is Interested in P.G.E. Sale If Approached

Premier John Hart Sets Out Conditions Under Which Provincial Government Would Consider Proposals—Option Already Rejected

PREMIER John Hart said yesterday that the British Columbia Government is ready to consider any reasonable proposal from the United States Government, or the Government of Canada, or other responsible principals, for the sale of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, more particularly with a view to its extension to the north.

No such approach by principals has yet been made and the Premier said the inner will not deal with promoters or agents, give options in blank, Premier Hart said.

Sketching out what had been done to the present, Premier Hart said Attorney-General Maitland has been asked for a copy of the Bulli-vair report which years ago had the Government had declined to sketched out the assets of the railway, and its adjacent lands. On the strength of that report, which is a public document, had been supplied. More recently, Mr Hart continued, other interests had sent the province an option form seeking an option on the property been asked for a copy of the Bulli-. This had rejected. At the same time vair report which years ago had the Government had declined to deal with intermediaries while willing to discuss any proper proposal with principals at any time.

NO OFFICIAL OFFERS

No official approach has been made to the Provincial Government either the United States or Dominion Governments concerning the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Nor has there been any actual representation by any large railway company. The [illegible] is interested in such proposition seemingly, but if the United States or Dominion Government, or any railroad corporation is interested, this Government will give every consideration to any proposals at any time, Premier Hart declared.

Much informal discussion has taken place in governmental circles had centered around the prospect of construction of a railroad from Prince George through to Alaska, as a military necessity. Premier Hart continued. If such a railroad were built in the future, a link with the Pacific Great Eastern would seem to be a logical step. At present, however, this was only in the field of speculation and nothing of a tangible nature had been put before the Provincial Government.

In the of past experiences with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the British Columbia Government would deal only with principals, and not on options for promoters, whatever might be offered on the merits of the figure. Premier Hart pronounced. In the other hand, the province is much interested in the subject and would [illegible] to any proposals put forward. Mr Hart said. The pilot gained the reef by swimming seven miles through shark-infested waters, while clinging to an air cushion. Three companions drowned.

Putney By-Election To Test Strength of Government Today

Independent Candidate Has Refused Full Support To Prime Minister Churchill — Other By-Elections in Great Britain Are Pending

LONDON, May 7 (CP).—The first Independent candidate to refuse full support to Prime Minister Churchill, Capt. Bernard Acworth, will test the strength of the Government tomorrow in a by-election in Putney, a London constituency.

The voters will choose between the retired naval officer, who wants to take the post of Defence Minister away from Mr. Churchill and vest its executive functions in three professional strategists and Hugh Dalton, a Government-supported National Conservative.

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

Reported to the defeat of Mr. Churchill's representative last week in Rugby and Wallasey, the Government has given Lieutenant Acworth vigorous support of all its three major parties. The electorate has been exhorted by Mr. Churchill, Clement Attlee, the Archbishop Lang-Gibbs and Ernest Brown to vote for the National candidate.

The Prime Minister set a spark to what would otherwise have been a dull campaign by sending a letter to Lieutenant-Colonel Jack Ackworth (his "in paper which he circulated in Parliament last to members of both Houses declared himself in favor of a negotiated separate peace with Japan) "as the people that their strength was so great we must yield to their armed force."

DENIES ACCUSATION

Acworth promptly denied the accusation absolutely false and declared he had always advocated prosecution of the war against Japan. With the impact that he was not a land earned members of Parliament that subjugate Bangkok and Burma—Burma might fall, but made no suggestion whatever on negotiations with Japan, which would be criminal while we had a base left in the Pacific from which to fight.

At the same time as Putney's 200,000 residents are casting their votes, nominations will be held for a Chichester by-election to be conducted May 18. Three names are expected to be entered in the list with Lieut.-Commander L. W. Johnson-Hicks, the Conservative candidate, Flight Lieutenant Gerald Kidd, a Chichester lawyer and Frank Rives, of London, have announced that they will contest the seat as Independents.

OTHERS PENDING

Two more by-elections are pending to fill seats caused by the death this week of Patrick Munro, a Conservative Whip, and Major J. A. F. Hellgrove Boberson, also a Conservative. Munro represented Lanark and Barrie, Hellgrove Boberson was member for Salisbury.

Students accepted years of age or more with university entrance qualifications and at least one senior matriculation course to their credit may enter Normal School under the two provisions. Students graduating from Normal School without the full senior matriculation standing will receive temporary certificates. Permanent certificates will be granted when full Normal School standing is gained and students have completed the required Summer School courses.

NO APPLICATIONS FOR JOBS ON FARMS MADE BY VICTORIA STUDENTS

While application forms have been distributed to city schools, no applicants have as yet come forward to enlist for work on district farms. The Summer H. L. Campbell municipal schools inspectors said yesterday.

The Provincial Government recently authorized a five-month leave from school for students in Grades IX X XI and XII if they can prove they are to be employed on farms during the Summer. Release of the boys and girls on June 1 is contingent on their scholastic ability. They do not have to return until November 1.

It is not expected many applications will be received until after June 1 with the strawberry crop reaping the earliest demand for labor locally.

H.M.S. EDINBURGH LOST IN BATTLE

she intended to delivering 50 per cent of her ships the Admiralty said.

Assuming all of the enemy ships were of approximately the same size this would indicate that the Japanese fleet was composed of about twelve ships.

Casualties apparently were minimal, since although it was considerably damaged, Commander Onishi aboard the Edinburgh were minimal.

STEERING GEAR DISABLED

The attacks on the two cruisers began April 30 and lasted through May 1. The heavyweight cruiser, Chikuma, was struck first, a submarine torpedo disabling the Edinburgh's steering gear on the afternoon of April 30.

The Edinburgh was able to proceed under her own power but at a speed reduced below her normal thirty-two and one-half knots. Thus crippled she and the convoy were attacked the following afternoon in cloudy weather by three destroyers which made five separate attempts to break through the escort and destroy the cruiser each one being beaten off. It was in this fighting that the new centrosed ship which was to be laid were down. Seven Japanese killed on two other ships in the morning of May 2 the crippled Edinburgh again was attacked as three German destroyers appeared in the same zone in dense weather and low visibility. The Edinburgh now was in tow but she and British destroyers engaged the enemy and the first sank one of the Nazi destroyers and severely damaged a second.

ANOTHER TORPEDO HIT

During the fight another torpedo hit the Edinburgh. She was abandoned and sank the Admiralty and later had to be sunk by our forces as towing was no longer practicable in the weather conditions prevailing.

The cruiser was not battered again.

The attack on the outward-bound convoy was begun on the afternoon of May 1 as six Junkers 88 dive bombers attacked suddenly from the clouds. One of them was shot down while the convoy and its escort were uncamfered.

On the morning of the following day, six torpedo-carrying planes attacked, and three of the convoyed ships were struck by torpedoes and sank. In that assault one of the attackers was shot down.

FINAL ATTACK FAILS

A fifth attack came at the evening of May 2. Three planes were in the unprotected returns only. Only one bomb struck one ship. One casualty. Ship was not sunk.

LIFE WRECKED FOR NATIONALS

Germans Leaving Americas With Regret, Says Seaman From Elis Island

Among Axis nationals now returning home from all parts of the Americas are much Germans who leave the lands of their adoption "with great reluctance". For them the war has disrupted their whole lives, but because they are essentially German in nationality and in their sympathies they feel they should be at home.

This is the impression gained by Ernest L. Grauss, twenty-three formerly a British merchant navy gunner, who was at Elis Island while the homeward-bound Germans and Italians were there.

Young Grauss arrived in Victoria yesterday. He was the Axis nationals quoted from America sailed for Europe.

TALKED WITH GERMANS

In the passengers detention room at Elis Island, where he spent thirty-three days awaiting transshipment to Halifax after being released from service in the merchant navy, Grauss said he talked with many of the Germans who were there.

Some of them were young Nazis. He said he met no American-born Nazis. Those who were officials of the Nazi party were rounded up by Hitler. But the better educated seemed to regret having to leave the Americas where they were in the diplomatic service or engaged in private enterprise.

The Axis nationals allowed aboard the Swedish liner Gripsholm were given no indication of the exact time they would be allowed to return to their homes.

Among those he talked with Grauss said, was Miss Hoffman formerly a hairdresser on the Europa who was convicted as a spy and spent three years in a United States prison.

"She used to drive all the submarines hair in the detention room the young gunner said. And she was kept busy. She was glad to be going back to Germany but seemed to have no hope that good will for the people in America.

The prisoners, he said spent most of their time sewing and writing and playing ping-pong.

Canadian operators provided the vessels on instructions of the Canadian Shipping Board.

DIEGO SUAREZ CAPTURED

The British have captured the commodious naval harbor of Diego Suarez in Madagascar after a sharp fight. They now have the key position on that island and it is not anticipated that they will,[illegible] with any serious resistance, obtain control of the island as a whole. That must be their purpose for they could, and can make of leaving disagreeable at any point in their year. The island must be garrisoned as a whole. for since British forces have landed there it will have to be defended. A new bastion in the Indian Ocean is now in possession of the United Nations, a sentinel over the lifelines for the transport of war supplies, troops and all other equipment to the Orient and to the Middle East. To some extent the British occupation of the island shows the loss of Singapore. It cannot be attacked as Malaya was attacked through protection of the landward side. Nevertheless its defences will have to be made powerful, for presumably a British fleet will be based there and convoys provided from there for merchant shipping.

Since Madagascar has come into the limelight dispatches said it and again have spoken of the island as the fourth largest in the world. If Whitaker's Almanac is to be believed it takes fifth place among the largest islands, the first five Greenland, 827,300 square miles, New Guinea 330,000 square miles, Borneo 280,000 square miles, Baffin Land, 234,000 square miles, and Madagascar, 228,000 square miles.

DECLINING RESPONSIBILITY

Parliament is usefulness seems to be declining steadily. It was regarded as a factor in government not worth consulting when the Prime Minister in a radio broadcast declared war and prior control Similarly, when Mr. Mackenzie King, also in a radio broadcast, announced a policy of man and woman power mobilization for war he said he had been given to Parliament. There was no suggestion that the representatives of the people should be consulted, or even notified in advance of what the Government intended. It is true that the administration can operate in this way under the War Measures Act, but it may well be doubted if it is acting wisely in introducing sweeping changes in the domestic and social life of the community without first consulting those who in the aggregate represent the people. These and other matters affecting parliamentary authority are beginning to engage public attention. It is full time that they did, for any diminution of authority under parliamentary forms of government is the beginning of totalitarianism, and that is the system it is sought to destroy because of the woes it has brought upon mankind.

In an editorial entitled Parliament In Eclipse The Globe and Mail of Toronto says: "Canada cannot claim to have parliamentary government while sweeping measures affecting the lives of every one of the 11,000,000 people in the nation are enacted mainly by Order-in-Council. Almost daily, while Parliament goes through the motions and observes the forms, tradition which have come down through the centuries, civil servants and dollar-a-year men are doing things which have a revolutionary effect upon the industrial and social life of the country. The legislation, having delegated power to administrative authority to the Cabinet and its creatures in the wartime bureaus, knows nothing about the momentous actions of those organizations until they read about them in the press or hear of them on the radio."

The same newspaper draws attention to the impression gained by Mr. D. A. McDresar, of The Vancouver Province, after he had spent a month in the seat of authority of the Dominion and after he reached the conclusion that the House of Commons "has no tradition of independence and is rapidly developing a tradition of subservience." He says: "Parliament dawdles as if all eternity were its portion. The Globe and Mail alludes to the "inspiring spectacle" in the Chamber (House of Commons) in the middle of the afternoon, with the Cabinet Ministers out of eighteen holding the fort and seven out of every ten private members absent. Meanwhile, the real controllers of the commercial, financial and military life of the nation are operating the levers elsewhere and one wonders if they will ever want to surrender control when the war is ended. To some the Parliament of Canada seemingly dead as the Rirchstag under Hitler. It is organized for peace and politics. It ought to be the high court of the nation, but, for the time being, is in eclipse. The principal reason for this is the overwhelming majority of the Government and the feebleness of the Opposition."

There are some Members of Parliament who are restive under the conditions whereby the responsibility of that authority is in the ether. One of these is Mr. T. L. Church. When the resolution to appoint a select committee to inquire into war expenditures was being discussed he said: If this resolution passes, in my opinion Parliamentary Government will be at an end in Canada. More than a hundred years ago there had a civil war in England in order to obtain control over the executive and of all expenditures. Such this war started into Parliament. had had no such control over anything. Here the session is almost two-thirds over and the Government brings in a motion at this late hour to appoint a committee to do what? To take out of the hands of the Parliamentary committee the control it may have over the expenditures in connection with the war or diminution of them from now on. So far that control has been very little and is a myth. We have rules and regulations of the House we have statutes, we have the Auditor General and an Audit Act; we have a Treasury Board, which is supposed to pass on estimates, statements and commitments and guard the Treasury. We are simply going around as a Parliament in a circle because control is daily taken from us. For many years I was a member of the Public Accounts Committee, but since the Brengun matter in April, 1938, I doubt if that committee has had a meeting at least I do not remember one."

PACIFIC COAST DEFENCES

Chiefly because of questions asked by British Columbia Members of Parliament, Mr. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, is continuing the Pacific Coast Area. It is but natural, considering the character of the forces employed by the Japanese wherever they have attacked, that there should be uneasiness about the defences of this coast. The people want to be assured, not only that there are enough troops available and on the spot, but that they are fully equipped with all the modern machinery of war, with tanks, with other armored cars with artillery of all necessary calibres, with an adequate number of motorcycle troops and other formations that have been developed because of the kind of warfare carried on by the enemy.

There are, however, other factors of defence, perhaps of even more vital importance than the number of troops assigned to the task. There is the air strength, designed for both defence and attack, and capable of being concentrated at a given point. It is in their hundreds that both fighters and bombers must be available to cope with invasion. So far, it must be remembered, that wherever the Japanese have fought they have done so with overwhelming superiority in the air, and that has proved one of the decisive factors in their roll of victories. This condition is fairly well supplied with airfields but it is a question if enough aircraft are available. Another vital necessity is anti-aircraft guns in the adequate numbers, not only protecting populated centres but airfields, military establishments, industrial plants engaged in producing munitions of war and shipyards as well.

There is yet another point, the most vital of all, which seems to be overlooked by British Columbia Members of Parliament, wherever they raise the question of the defences of this coastline. That is, what naval forces are available in the event of Japan's making an attack at present, if there are aerial raids on this Coast and if they are carried out from aircraft carriers. If there were invasion, the naval force would be accompanied by strong naval escorts. The mere fact of an attempted invasion would be the effect a landing. It is a naval strength that is the best guarantee of this. What assurances can the Minister for Naval Affairs and Ottawa give towards this end? It is Mr. Macdonald, more so perhaps than Mr. Ralston, who should be questioned in Parliament about the defences of the Pacific Coast.

A JAPANESE NAVAL DEFEAT

The sinking of eight enemy ships and the bringing down of six airplanes in a naval and aerial engagement off the Solomon Islands will give the Japanese a good idea of what they are to suffer eventually from the guns and torpedoes of the American Navy. It is the first naval encounter of any size in the Pacific since the attack of the Japs, but this time the results have been reversed. The American warships came out of the battle unscathed, or certainly with no major damage, and all the losses suffered were three airplanes. It is a signal victory which indicates that, given anything like equal equipment, ships engaged, the fighting qualities of the American Navy are superior to the Japanese. It is heartening news coming as it does after the fall of Corregidor and the defeat of the United Nations in Burma. It may well indicate that last has Americans have been able to make dispositions for their Pacific Fleet in a manner in which it can inflict most damage on the enemy.

The Ottawa Journal prints a column it calls "Brief Bits Out of Journal Prints" It has the devil of a job finding grains of wheat in the bushels of chaff and rarely succeeds in its search

WHAT CONSTITUTES A STATE

What constitutes a state?
Not intermarried kings nor islands or labored mines
Thick walls or moated gate,
Nor cities fenced and towers crowned,
Nor lakes and broad-armed groves
Where leaping lambs and herds cloyed with nectar
Nor starred and painted ceiling,
Where sweet-breathed beauties wait with perfumes to pride
Not—Men high-minded men,
Men who can make the vilest drudge endured
To force, broke or deed
As basis, rural peak rocks and brambles rude—
Men who their duties know
But know their rights, and knowing dare maintain,
Prevent the long-aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain,
These constitute a state.
Men who their duties know, but know their rights,
Or themes and globes scale
Men who prize liberty as their God, regarding it
Sent by her sacred lawes,
The fend Dissension like a vapor sink,
And e'en the all-daring crown
Hide-his fated face, and at her bidding shrink;
Such was this heaven-loved isle
Than Lesbos fairer and the Crean shore!
No more shall freedom smile
Shall Britons languish and be men no more?
Since all must die, prepare
These sweet rewards which decorate the brave
'Tis folly to decline
And steal injurious to the silent grave

—William Jones

THE ANXIOUS DEAD

O gaze fall silent till the dead men hear
Above their heads the legions pressing on:
These fought their fight in light of their fear
And died not knowing how the day had gone.

O flashing mutiny, pause and let them see
Your comrades down that struggle the sky afar.
Then let your mighty chorus witness be
To Death, and Caesar, that we still make war.

Tell them, O guns, that we have heard their call,
That we have eaten and slept with their pain
That we will record till we win or fall,
That we will keep the faith for which they died

But them be patient, and some day, soon
They shall rest earth exempt in silence deep
Shall greet it worthy friends, the quiet dead
And in concord may turn them to their sleep

—John McCrae

MEETING

The grey sea and the long black land
And the yellow half-moon large and low.
And the startled little waves that leap
In fierce regard, into the night to go.
As I sate, late, by the pier leaning, musing upon
And quench'd, spoed in the shadow sand

Then a mute of warm, sea-scented breath,
These fields or strange fill a farm appears,
A lap at the paint, the quick sharp scratch
And blue spurt of a lighted match,
And a voice less loud, through its joys and fears,
Than the two hearts beating each to each!

—Robert Browning

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM CRAVER

Chance yesterday placed me beside a member of the Veterans Guard of Canada. We talked, and he has credit, he did not tell me anything he should not have told me. Yet there were two stories in the veteran himself. His uniform was one that he had worn from 1914 to 1918, went through to 1918, and that he had been twice decorated in the field. From his uniform, everything was comfortable, and I learned that he had been wounded twice also. The decorations were real not ribbons worn. The man was real and as solidly dependable as is to be found among the best in this country.

Here was a man who had served with the Fifth Battalion, in the First Canadian Division, winner of the Seventh (B.C.) Ninth (Little Black Devils Winnipeg) and Tenth (The Canadian Rifles) and had marched in good company. He had seen Valcartier, Salisbury Plain, Ypres, Festubert, Givenchy, the Somme, Passchendaele, the Ypres and Vimy and the whole of the show down to November 3 1918 when he went on from Mons, arriving disdaily before the Armistice. For four and a half years, with time off for furloughs and two spells in military hospitals convalescing. From hospitals he was sent back to the front served—with distinction—under first the friend had served in the place in this Veterans Guard of Canada many times, and then he was in a "group" in his system, not sharing his confidence of victory in the end.

That was the story that I gleaned mostly by my own observation and with a few words from himself. Decorations. The other days the one lot tied as simply and without flourish as the day they were given. At a place that is no concern of mine the Veterans Guard of Canada turns in keeping watch on German prisoners of war in a Prisoner of Internment camp. The camp is surrounded by exterior barricades size and so on. At its corners are towers with machine gun posts, and the foreground is floodlighted by night. Inside military and naval prisoners of war are treated with the full respect of the British, under which is to say with even-handed justice and without favoritism. A strict military discipline is kept up in the guardhouse, and there are members of whom were British prisoners of war in Germany at some part of the Great War, 1914-1918. Most of the German prisoners of war are taken out in working parties by day for ordinary and practicable work. WIDE INTEREST IS SHOWN IN TILIKUM

Victoria's globe-trotting Indian canoe Tilikum, is becoming of continent-wide interest these days, according to officials of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

A little more than a week ago the story of the exploits of Capt. J. C. Voss in his 40-foot-mile trip in the triple-masted, decked canoe, now resting in Thunderbird Park, first appeared in the Belle-le II or Nut Colony of Robert Ripley.

Yesterday the officials of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau received a query from The American Man" of radio station WOR, leading station in the United States owned by the Mutual Broadcasting Company. Know about the Tilikum, a believer that seeing is believing asking him if the Tilikum really had been dismasted in Alaska. OLD-TIME ATHLETE DIES IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER May 7 (CP) — Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for George Cathcinlad Hodge seventy-one who was famous as an outsman and Rugby player in British Columbia forty years ago. Mr. Hodge died yesterday. He was superintendent of the British Columbia Telephone Company's operations in the Kootenays for eighteen years. He took an active part in organizing the Nelson Boat Club in 1900 and for many years played a leading part in the cloth ... for fertilizers. G. S. Pearl, fertilizers administrator, said today. Jute comes almost entirely from India.

... Burma, the Japanese army which has been pursuing retreating British forces up the Chindwin Valley toward India, was said to have turned east, apparently to cut off Chinese units still fighting in the vicinity of Mandalay which fell to the invader last week.

IN DEFENDER HANDS

Chinese authorities said Bhamo at the head of Irrawaddy River navigation some forty miles west of the Chinese border, and Myitkina eighty miles northwest of Bhamo still were in the defenders' hands.

Denying rumours today with Japan's larger strategy the Chinese ... ern India was claimed in a Berlin radio broadcast, which gave as its source a Tokio report. This said a Japanese column had crossed the Indian border east of Paiwa, in Burma, and was within sixty-two miles of Chittagong, India.

Such a thrust would be a logical corollary of an all-out campaign to knock China from the war, because it could sever the supply network of rail lines which lead from Calcutta and the rear of Southeast India north-eastward to the Chinese-Indian border. Chittagong is the southeastern terminus of these lines.

Canadian and American Women Discuss Joint War Effort at Convention in Ottawa—Suggestions Made for Efficient Action

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP)—Representatives of 2,000,000 Canadian and American women attending a convention here to promote a united Canadian and American war effort launched their sessions tonight with a broadcast of Town Hall of the Air.

Four speakers—two Americans and two Canadians—spoke on How Can Canada and the United States Co-operate Further In Wartime Ways?" Lauding the decisions and members of the audience took part in a discussion.

THE SPEAKERS

The speakers were Mrs. Phyllis Turner administrator of the social land economic advisor to Canada's Wartime Prices and Trade Board and former chief research economist to the tariff board; United States Senator Warren Clark, of Idaho; Blanche Ciark, M.P. for Montreal—St. Lawrence—St. George and Charles P. Kindleberger, research economist of the board of governors of the Federal reserve system (nominally associated with the joint economic committee of Canada and the United States.

Need for close economic co-operation was stressed by Mrs. Turner, our common aim to defeat the Axis powers the urgent necessity to fill completely co-operation in producing the tools of war and food and clothing for the United Nations.

Informal agreements just already brought co-operation, she said, ining plans to step up production of oil-bearing crops in the United States and production of flaxseed, oats and barley in Canada through which the nations were meeting the oil and fats shortages in the United Kingdom and Russia as well as Africa.

Economic co-operation between Canada and the United States was also urged by Senator Clark but he cautioned that if tariffs were to be abolished there must be safeguards for the economic interests of the two countries.

"BRASS HAT BARRIERS"

Mr Kindleberger contended that brass hats in Washington and Canadian Government officials stationed at the seat of congress discussion should be taken to the crux this satire. He said, wanted to emphasize that their contribution was an enormous share and the most a foreign citizen.

He said this alliance was not formal outside the co-operation of both civilian.

Mr Clarkson said that Americans and Canadians are closer together than ever before.

Mr Clark said the United States could co-operate even more in producing industrial products, for instance use of natural resources, in working together to develop fatty oil weapons for the Japanese and by establishing a special agency to discuss agricultural problems.

Gordon Head Unit to Show Art Treasure

There is plenty of activity about Mothers Day this week-end, of course lots of Red Cross activity too but the Gordon Head Unit of the Victoria Red Cross is combining activities for two purposes in a pretty novel fashion. At the Saanichside library and vegetable stall on Maplewood Drive at Gordon Head this week-end may be seen an example of an interesting art that will delight and amaze every mother who sees it. It is a woven rug depicting with the most perfect colors ever for any tapestry the famous sailing ship "Lion Cloud, and it is the product of five months of skilled weaving by one of the members of the Gordon Head Red Cross. It is said that hundreds of treasured silk and wool pieces from the homes of Victoria have gone into the making of this rug as tapestry and it will certainly be a lifelong treasure in the house looks enough to own it. Later the tapestry will be shown in the window of the Murdock-Rae-Hudson antique store on Government Street where tickets in aid of the Red Cross may be obtained.

LOADING TO BE SPEEDED

Order in Council Provides for Controller and Assistants at Halifax

HALIFAX May 7 (CP)—Plans for speeding up the handling of shipping in this port were outlined last night in a statement by Dean Vincent C. MacDonald, of Dalhousie University Law School, newly appointed controller of ship loadings.

Mr. MacDonald also announced John J. Green of Montreal and C. W. Train, V.C. of Vancouver, have been appointed to assist him "in the more technical aspects of the work."

The statement described Mr. Green as a contracting stevedore of experience in Canadian and United States ports, and said Mr. Train, Secretary of the Shipping Federation of British Columbia, will be chief dispatcher in charge of the new hiring arrangements.

Chief functions of the controller, ship of ship loadings, the statement said, is to put loading on a planned systematic basis with proper regard for the co-ordination of all loading agencies so that they will function together with maximum efficiency.

The new plan, while great discretionary powers in the controller to deal with practices and conditions, to expedite the supply and method of hiring labor and to co-ordinate the efforts of all persons and organizations engaged in the loading of ships, the statement continued.

The order in council deals specifically with certain practices and methods and rights which it defines.

One of the great features of the new plan is the eventual establishment of a more efficient and orderly method of hiring longshoremen in order to eliminate existing defects which impair the speed of loading operations.

It is recognized that the new scheme of port control will involve changes in the traditional methods and accepted rights on the part of companies and men engaged in loading operations and the order in council provides for the registration of existing conditions so that they can be restored after the war if the employees so desire.

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

Red Cross Traces Relatives Quickly

Here is a good example of the effective work of the Canadian Red Cross. On May 4 the local office was asked by a Victorian to discover if two ladies living in Bath, England, which had just come through a very heavy blitz, were safe and well.

Within forty-eight hours the Victoria branch of the Canadian Red Cross was able to inform the relatives living here that the ladies in question were safe and well but shaken.

Parcels for Red Cross Have Free Transportation

Magnitude of the task done by the Canadian Red Cross is clear from the work of its transportation committee. Last year it sent overseas supplies having a value of [illegible] carried on 350 steamships. Total loss of all shipments to date have been less than 2½ per cent of the total value of goods shipped. This committee also has a major task in arranging warehouse space.

Arrangements with the British Ministry of Shipping permit all Red Cross goods to go overseas free of charge, resulting in an estimated saving of about $100,000 a year. Canadian railway and express companies extend the same free transport service to and from all parts of the country.

The drive to raise $2,000,000 for Red Cross funds begins throughout Canada on Monday, May 11. The Victoria and district quota is $60,000.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Ol' Mistah Buzzard Tells a Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

All the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest had learned that the big black bird with their bad watched and the setting high in the blue blue sky was not a hawk at all but Ol' Mistah Buzzard as he floated and sailed from way down south. And when they learned this there was great rejoicing, for Unc' Billy Possum had said that Ol' Mistah Buzzard never harms anyone.

So all the little meadow and forest people hurried over to the tall dead tree in the Green Forest where Ol' Mistah Buzzard delighted to sit, and all were very polite so him, especially the little ones who had been most frightened when they mistook him for a hawk sailing in the blue blue sky.

Unc' Billy Possum introduced each one as he arrived, and each hollered to tell Ol' Mistah Buzzard how glad they all were to welcome him to the Green Meadows and the Green Forest. Ol' Mistah Buzzard was just as polite as they were and bowed his wrinkled, bald head in this one and to that one in a very grand way. As usual, Peter Rabbit was brimming over with curiosity and he could hardly wait to be introduced before he began to ask questions.

"I see your parents, Mr. Buzzard, but I don't tell us if you are very old?" asked Peter.

Ol' Mistah Buzzard gave Peter a funny side-long glance as he replied.

"Ah reckon Ah'm right smart old Br'er Rabbit. Ah reckon Ah'm right smart old and yet Ah might be lot ar, you sah. Ah shoh'ly might be older. Why do you ask Br'er Rabbit?"

Peter looked a little bit foolish and hesitated a minute before he replied in a very low voice.

"Because I thought only very very old people ever had bald heads."

Ah Reckon Ah'm Right Smart Old

Peter's voice was so low that Ol' Mistah Buzzard had to cock his head quite far over to hear him. Ol' Mistah Buzzard looked at Peter with twinkling eyes. Peter blushed and looked down at his feet. Ol' Mistah Buzzard was so polite that Peter felt very uncomfortable. He seemed as if they were laughing at him.

All at once Ol' Mistah Buzzard threw back his head and laughed. He laughed and laughed and laughed. He had to kill himself. He let go his perch and fell down and down and down. Ol' Mistah Buzzard never spoke a word. He just

Glancing Over Sport

By JOE DELAHUNTY

Never did Victoria see a more happy bunch of athletes return to the city than the Dominoes yesterday afternoon when they stepped off the boat to be welcomed by a large delegation of wives, sweethearts, relatives, basketball officials and supporters. Premier John Hart was on hand to extend the congratulations of the Province to the new Canadian champions, while Mayor Andrew McGavin and Reeves Alex Lockley, Leo Woodhouse and E. C. Warren greeted the Victorians on behalf of the city and the various municipalities. Sport writers and cameramen were scurrying around getting stories and pictures for their papers.

Manager Dave Nicol and Trainer Bobby Van Horne had great praise for the boys and stated Dominoes won the national title the hard way. This time it is easy job to travel across the continent eliminating all opposition until you reach the final round. Those two referees in Montreal didn't know very much about the rules. After that second game we tried every angle to have a switch but the officials turned us down without a hearing so the boys then were more determined than ever and won the next two games and the championship as the result. Just like up and down the court all hardfie speed. Our height the experience of the two Chapmans and Mortlock coupled with plenty of youth and speed proved too for them by the Mountaineers by the wide margin. We played had everything a championship team should have namely balance, co-ordination and team spirit. If everything goes along alright we will be defending the championship next season with the same personnel, with the exception of Norm Baker who is in the Air Force."

ODDS AND ENDS

Another Victoria lad who enjoyed watching the Dominoes win the title in Montreal was Charlie Thomas, former all-Canadian lacrosse player who is now in the R.C.A.F. down east. In a letter to his folks Charlie said that the referring was stupid terrible. Bobby Jones will head for the Windsor this evening to sit in at the opening of another lacrosse season. After winning every the start up of the Bell and United hockey teams it looks as if a hard-fought season is in the books. Picking a winner is a tough proposition as the teams appear well matched on paper but at the time time the Bays will be the best bet. Do you know that in spite of the fact that Walter Harris made the lacrosse team on the records of the British open golf championship up to the last time when he fired a great 81 over the 4,716-yard course at Colwood. Walter's chances will have been finally eliminated as of today as he Colwood club will have gone out of the running. Walter is expected to be back in time for the opening game of the Victoria Senior Lacrosse League on the 16th of June. The club will have no dates during the present war or before and another thing the Island is in for a good league as it has ever been. Pete Mantle

Alsab Is Looking Good for Race at Pimlico Saturday

Game Little Horse From Chicago One of Strong Favorites for Running of $60,000 Preakness Tomorrow—Shut Out and Devil Diver To Be Watched Closely

BALTIMORE May 7 (AP)—Alsab is getting more than a little bit weary of being called a horse.

So it might be a good idea for the game-sailers to start hedging off right now, where the game little horse from Chicago makes their cast their words.

This could happen Saturday in the fifty-second running of the Preakness, the Old Pimlico classic in the last few days 1941's hard champion looks more like his old self himself than at any time since his three-year-old birthday.

Of course this is not to say that Good Goods' son is a dead-ringer even to bet on the mutuel board.

To begin with, there's Mr. Please Whitney's one-two punch of Shut Out, who won the Kentucky Derby and Devil Diver who was supposed to have run third in the Derby but lost to pick up 600.

Shut Out and Devil Diver are what you don't look much fatihes on realize it's going to take a lot more than a gate off in one Derby.

Alsab's recent form has been good. Given a good start and a good ride he has shown that he can hold his own with the Preakness Kind.

But on spite of the opposition Alsab looks about ready to start going again after adding an eight-straight losing streak this year on the ten-month-old amazing string he piled up in 41.

On top of his second place in the Derby Alsab got out on Pimlico and strip today and gave the field-bugs an opportunity by spending a mile in 1:41:2-5. This was a good a dif as has been turned in by any racehorse to date.

Trainer Ben Jones pulled Wright Wright, most valuable 3-year-old although including the Kentucky Derby, gallops in 1:39 on the fast.

Giants and Pittsburgh Divide Baseball Games

Pirates Capture First of Double-Header, 2-1, After Eleven Innings—Giants Come Back to Take Second Fixture by 6-2 Score

PITTSBURGH, May 7 (AP) — New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates had the whole league chasing themselves today and divided a National League double-header by way of keeping everything even.

The Pirates plodded to a 2-1 victory in eleven innings in the first game and then were set down, 8-2, in the nightcap which Rookie Buster Maynard enhanced with a three-run homer.

Inclement weather forced postponement of all other games in both big leagues.

Young Aldon Wilkie, rattle of the opener, after his teammates punched Bob Carpenter for a dozen, put a short siesta by Shortstop Pete Coscarart, of Pittsburgh, kept Wilkie from a shutout.

In the fifth inning Hans Danning opened with a single and reached third on a double by Maynard, recent recruit from Jersey City. Wilkie was intentionally passed to load the bases and then Carpenter lifted a lazy fly to Coscarart in short left. The former Dodger held on to the ball for a moment while he surveyed the scene, and Danning raced home from third—easily beating the delayed throw.

A.R.P. PRACTICE IS SUCCESSFUL

Hospitals, Wardens, Auxiliaries Work Well—Will Improve Communications

ported Wednesday night's raid practice in Greater May district first of ten district practices to be held in the city, was definitely a success.

The practice was as near perfect as possible and far above my expectations, Inspector A. H. Bishop civilian protection officer said. District Warden Oldfield is to be congratulated especially in view of the fact that he has been warden of that district for only three weeks.

Representatives of the civilian protection protocol advisory board also had high praise for the practice results. Inspector Bishop said:

HOSPITALS PRAISED

The part played by the two city hospitals evoked admiration of A.R.P. and military representatives alike. Major W. Dingley officer commanding the 21st Provisional Corps, reported technique shown by doctors, nurses and patients at St. Joseph's Hospital was so realistic that it was hard to tell the practice from the real thing.

The decontamination squad at the Jubilee Hospital worked perfectly according to Inspector Bishop and also earned the unreserved praise of Major Dingley. Members of the Women's Ambulance Corps and St. Joan Ambulance worked for nearly two hours clothed in heavy, uncomfortable, warm rubber suits and gas masks.

CO-OPERATION GOOD

The educational bands and the central control staff worked well together, Inspector Bishop said, and co-operation between divisions was well-nigh perfect.

District Warden K. J. Oldfield impressed he considered the practice was successful. The co-operation between auxiliary services was good and the whole warden service worked smoothly.

Timing on all pre-arranged plans was remarkably accurate he assessed. Improvement would be called for in communications, and in providing on the guise of incident white motor office space was required at the district control room in Beacon Park School.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot to Be Second-in-Command and Warden of Downtown District

As district warden of the downtown area Captain Proudfoot will have headquarters in the Empress Hall, View Street, where a hospital unit has been granted. The district is bounded by Blanchard, Douglas, Fort and View Streets. Ward staff is being organized.

FALLING BRICKS HURT GARDENER

R. A. Backx Suffers Fractured Leg When Part of Wall Collapses

R. A. Backx, 1135 May Street, suffered a fractured left leg early Saturday afternoon when part of the wall surrounding St. Ann's Academy, 835 Humboldt Street, collapsed and pieces of the brick, stone coping struck him.

Mr. Backx who is employed as a gardener by the academy was up a long ladder pruning a tree near the seven-foot wall on the Humboldt Street side when about 125 feet of it suddenly gave way, the bricks falling into the garden, which is below street level.

House doctors from St. Joseph's Hospital which is immediately opposite the scene of the collapse, gave Mr. Backx first aid on the spot. He was attended at the hospital later by Dr. George Hall.

The injured man's condition is not good and it is thought that this had prevailed long from noticing the collapse of the wall until it was too late to avoid the falling bricks. City police roped off the affected area. The wall is almost fifty years old and has been built in the time of Mother May Providence.

Nurses' Graduation Exercises Attended By Many Spectators

Forty-Four Jubilee Hospital Nurses Receive Diplomas From His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor

—Mayor Gives Address—Scholarships Given

FORTY-FOUR white uniformed young women received their diplomas and gold badges at the graduation exercises of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, at a ceremony which was carried out with the traditional dignity at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night.

Hundreds of relatives and friends of the nurses, as well as interested spectators, filled the theatre, and the aisles on which the 1942 graduating class was seated on rising tiers was heaped with masses of lovely flowers sent to the graduates as gifts on this important day in their lives. Each graduate carried a sheaf of red and white carnations tied with matching ribbon.

The ceremony opened with the singing of O Canada, followed by the invocation by Right Rev. R. E. Beaton, Bishop of British Columbia, and two charming solos, "I Love Life" and "My Prayer for You," sung by Mrs. Charles Goodacre, with Mrs. Llewelyn Morton Clough at the piano.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Alderman John A. Worthington, president of the board of directors of the hospital, gave an address, in which he spoke of many details connected with the organization of the hospital, touching briefly upon the various departments. He paid a tribute to Dr. T. W. Walker, the superintendent, and to Miss Mitchell, the director of nursing. He also expressed the thanks of the directors to such organizations as the Women's Auxiliary, better known, in 1891, which had been instrumental in raising thousands of dollars for the hospital. The Junior Auxiliary, formed in 1918, was doing valuable work and was responsible for the follow-up and social service work in particular as well as supplying equipment. To the Daughters of Pity, the Alumnae the Cousins and Five Service Nightingale Chapters (I.O.D.E., the Victoria and Esquimalt Women's Institutes, the Burns Club, the Women's Canadian Club, Boy Scouts, Y.M.C.A., Kiwanis, Rotary, Kitchener and Gyro Clubs he expressed gratitude. He also mentioned the St. John Ambulance Auxiliary, known as "the girls in blue" who were of great assistance in a practical way.

YEARS RECORD

According to the accounts of 1941 the sum of $378,000 was spent for the hospital, $92,000 of which was spent on new buildings and $28,000 on furnishings. Money for the maintenance of the institution was supplied by means of grants from the Provincial Government, the City of Victoria, other municipalities, bequests and donations. During the year there had been 7,000 patients, 3,000 out-patients, 700 babies were born and $147,000 worth of free work had been done for patients unable to pay. Attention had been given to A.R.P. needs and adequate equipment in case of necessity had been provided. Alderman Worthington said that the graduating class and student nurses in whatever field they found themselves in their profession.

OLDEST HOSPITAL

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in awarding the diplomas, spoke of the estimable reputation of the hospital the oldest in the province and possessing the first training school. The members of the class were members of "the noblest profession open to Women," he said and, speaking directly to the nurses, he added: "Some of you will enter private life others will serve in the forces, and whichever it may be I feel sure you will serve and uphold the great tradition of your profession."

Dr. T. W. Walker announced the names of the graduates and Miss Mitchell mentioned the badges on each nurse as she received her diploma.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS

"We are dedicating our girls as well as our boys to the service of our country," declared Mayor Andrew McGavin in his address. He spoke of the value also used for the nursing services and added "when our troops invade the Continent, as they will eventually do our nurses will carry out their duties with the same devotion and in the same tradition whose foundations were laid in the Crimean War. He expressed the hope that the graduates would always have happy memories of their training school and the hospital. Their training was over, but their reputation was only just begun, he said on adding "for education is never completed." The nurses had a high standard to maintain but he felt sure they would be equal to their responsibilities.

SPECIAL AWARDS

The announcement by Dr. Walker of the special awards was of great interest. The first the Robert A. and Palmera Day Memorial Scholarship, presented by Mr. W. S. Day in memory of his parents, was won by Miss Florence Johnson (Port Alberni B.C.). Also also received from Mr. Day a corsage bouquet. Three scholarships of $25 each presented by the board of directors, were awarded. First to the pupil in her junior year who stands highest in the practical work in which Miss Wilma Roth second, to the pupil in her intermediate year who stands highest in her theoretical work as in Miss Margaret I. Henderson, the third, to the graduate nurse of her year, either than the one who received the Robert B. and Palmera Day Memorial Scholarship, who attained the highest number of credits in her provincial examination, will be keenly awaited, the results of the examinations not having yet been announced.

The $100 scholarship presented by the Jubilee Hospital Alumnae for post-graduate work was won by Miss Ida Marion Livland and presented by Mrs. Douglas Hunter in a gracious little speech. The bursary presented by the Victoria Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia was presented by Miss Ethel K. Gray and won by Miss Margaret E. Sansom (Salmon Arm, B.C.).

The Florence Nightingale Pledge followed the valedictory, read by Miss Irene O'Brien Cumberland B.C.

RECEPTION HELD

At the conclusion of the graduating exercises a reception, attended by about 200 guests, was held in the Nurses' Home in honor of the graduates, the board of directors acting in the role of host.

Receiving the guests were His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward, Dr. T. W. Walker, Miss Leva Mitchell, R.N., Alderman and Mrs. J. A. Worthington, Mrs. Thomas Miller, president of the Jubilee Women's Auxiliary and Mrs. T. O. Sheppard. The reception room was beautifully arranged with masses of flowers, and while supper was being served the nurses received the personal congratulations and good wishes of friends and relatives.

LEFTHANDERS BEAT CARDS

Southpaw Pitchers Proving "Jinx" Against St. Louis Baseball Club

"I couldn't believe that we had been so hopeless against southpaws," Southworth said. "But I still don't understand it as our right-handers didn't hit against the southpaws either."

Cliff Melton of New York Giants is the only left-hander they have developed, and in that case the Cardinals played without Slaughter, Musial and Sanders.

ST. LOUIS, May 7 (AP)—Southpaws have become such a baffling menace to the pennant-hopeful St. Louis Cardinals that Manager Billy Southworth admitted frankly today he is puzzled over his team's inability to pound pitcher pitchers.

"The Cardinals have suffered four defeats so far this season and five have been administered by left-handers. In losing seven victories they have beaten only one southpaw.

In sixty-six and one-third innings of batting against portside flingers the Cardinals accumulated only forty-eight hits. Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Ray Sanders, key hand sluggers who provide the team's long-distance punch were especially impotent. They managed a mere total of eight hits in fifty times at bat, a collective average of .160.

Convicted of Breaking New Speed Limit

TRAIL, B.C., May 7 (CP)—In the first conviction in British Columbia under new Dominion regulations setting the speed limit at forty miles an hour, John L. Allison, of Castlegar, was fined the minimum of $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate E. L. Hodge in Provincial Police court.

HOUSE HEARS NAVY REPORT

Macdonald Applauded by All Parties After Reviewing Naval Progress

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP).—A Canadian Navy of approximately 900 units and personnel of 44,000 officers and men by March 31, 1943, was forecast in the House of Commons today by Navy Minister Macdonald.

At the same time he announced that his estimate of navy strength made in November 1940 for March 31, 1942 had been far exceeded.

The minister said officers of the Women's Royal Naval Services would come to Canada shortly to help organize a women's branch of the navy "several thousand strong."

PAYS TRIBUTE TO SEAMEN

Mr. Macdonald was applauded by all parties in the Chamber when he concluded a naval progress review, in which he paid high tribute to the work of Canadian seamen and closed with stirring words of praise for the British Navy.

His speech was a preliminary to examination of naval affairs in the House in Committee of the Whole on the War Appropriation Bill resolution.

Spokesmen for the Opposition groups complimented the minister on his report and plea for increased naval pay and allowances were made by M. J. Coldwell, Honie Leader of the C.C.F., and John Blackmore, Leader of the New Democrats.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES

Mr. Macdonald said he hoped to announce tomorrow that arrangements had been completed to place naval pay and allowances on a basis with those of the Army and Air Force.

Mr. Macdonald said his estimate given the House in November 1940 of naval strength so he expected it to be on March 31, 1942 had been greatly exceeded.

Where he had fixed 23,000 officers and men as his objective for last March 31 the actual number in service on that date was more than 31,000.

He estimated that by March 31, 1942 there would be 250 ships in the Canadian Navy but on that date there were more than 400 ships flying the White Ensign under Royal Canadian Navy Command," the minister said.

This in ships, the navy had increased nearly thirty times and, in personnel, eighteen times since the start of the war, when there were fifteen ships and 1,764 officers and men.

OUTSTANDING TASK

Atlantic convoys had been the navy's outstanding task, Mr. Macdonald said, and since the start of the war 36,000,000 tons of cargo had been carried across the Atlantic to the Atlantic including Dieppe convoys.

Canada's navy was playing a part in the greatest naval undertaking of which history has ever recorded, with every confidence, but South America in the war and all the sea lanes of the world beset by perils of modern sea war.

Mr. Macdonald dealt at length with the complexities of naval training and expressed the hope that the new naval college, near Esquimalt, B.C., would be in operation in September or October, and he hoped it would remain a permanent institution.

Canadian naval units ranged from minesweepers, sloops, through destroyers, corvettes, mine sweepers, motor torpedo boats, and auxiliary craft, the minister said.

Every province in Canada had furnished the crews of these vessels and the necessary shore units, but Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, "where the traditions of the sea is strong," had given larger numbers per capita than any other provinces.

NO LACK OF RECRUITS

There is no lack of recruits—indeed, there is still a considerable waiting list for the navy, Mr. Macdonald said.

More than 1,100 Canadian naval personnel served on Royal Navy vessels of all classes, and in all oceans and had seen much action, he continued.

Production of ships and training of personnel was proceeding "at an almost equal pace."

Advantage was being taken of mechanical training schemes being operated at various points in Canada and some 700 men had entered courses which would fit them for positions as artificers, skilled in engine-room, electrical and other types of work necessary in the navy.

There were some 2,700 sea cadets in Canada and the minister said he hoped to see that number trebled before March 31, 1943.

Thomas Reid (Lab. New Westminster) told Mr. Macdonald to keep up the good work of increasing and strengthening the navy.

In view of the shortage of trained personnel he suggested the navy should use many older men who had got their sea legs serving with the Royal Navy and the Merchant Marine in the first Great War. He knew a number of such men in British Columbia who were willing to serve. He asked if a naval development is contemplated at Dead Man's Island.

Mr. Macdonald said some development there was being considered.

"THIS GREAT WAR"

Today I received a telegram from General Leonard Wood, says:

Bring your sunbonnets up the rivers. We'll do those Moros good. We're going to war, a glorious war.

So I closed my bookstore at the Philippine Club, was dined, decorated and embarked in a launch to make immediate meeting of the Moros.

In street conversation, General Pershing, Mac-Arthur relates, are common about the Moro days in those fierce islands.

His detachment, he then was a lieutenant, was working its way through the Moro-infested jungle on the Island of Samar. Suddenly Mac-Arthur, quietly, fell, shot through the head. Instinctively Mac-Arthur dodged. And as he did so he remembers he was sent spinning by another bullet.

I knew I must have dodged a little past. I turned my gun, he retreated at common. He there gave the Moro the Gospel of Peace, and convinced him that good deals a special, in a little over a second. I gave, for me, a long speech to me.

He was a tough old egg kid. He looked up at me to see what we were doing when at those two shots. The Moro's arrows have shot out of his back quite cockeyed. Up and down, with the lethal-quick kind permitting, may the wigwag, remark, that the instrument of life is now on river.
